DETAILED ACTION

CLAIMS PRESENTED

Claims 1-11, 16-17 are presented.

Response to Arguments

First, as to finality, Applicant's arguments with respect to finality of the previous Office Action have been fully considered and are persuasive. The finality of that previous Office has been withdrawn and this (and not that previous) Office Action is final.

Second, regarding claims 16-17, the Office notes that these claims do not have the signals being sent at the same time as in claims 1-11. As noted in the previous Office Action, this is of critical importance. While this feature may be assumed from the arguments at page 8 of the latest filing from Applicant, this is not recited in claims 16-17.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the features noted in the previous paragraph and argued at page 8 of Applicant's arguments) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Thus, the language used at page 8:

a cable television system at a headend, wherein the cable provider encrypts a first signal in accordance with a first encryption scheme, and encrypts a second signal in accordance with a second encryption scheme. The cable provider then transmits both encrypted first and second signals, wherein a station continually transmits the encrypted first and second signals is necessary.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-11 are allowed. For the examiner's statement of reasons for allowance, see the previous Office Action.

After the addition of the following limitations, claims 16-17 would be allowable:
a cable television system at a headend, wherein the cable provider encrypts a first signal in accordance with a first encryption scheme, and encrypts a second signal in accordance with a second encryption scheme. The cable provider then transmits both encrypted first and second signals, wherein a station continually transmits the encrypted first and second signals.

CLAIM REJECTIONS

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Samar (cited by Applicant, EP Application 0752635A1).

Regarding claim 16, Samar teaches “A system for decrypting encrypted transmissions of at least one signal, comprising a receiver for receiving transmissions of the at least one signal, the receiver including a first embedded conditional access module having a decryption algorithm capable of decrypting a portion of the at least one signal and a second removable conditional access module having a decryption algorithm capable of decrypting the entire at least one signal (column 7, lines 10-51, the system having an access with input), wherein enabling of the second removable conditional access module causes the second removable conditional access module to override the first conditional access module (column 2, line 13 to column 4, line 14, access with smart cards – which would get information from smart card rather than from the regular input).”

These passages of Samar do not teach “module” in the sense of the claim.

Nevertheless, it was well known in the art to have a “module” situation for the motivation of having easier control and handling.

Hence, it would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the claimed invention to modify Samar for the motivation noted in the previous paragraphs so as to teach the claimed invention.

Regarding claim 17 (two different encryptions, etc.), such particular features are well known in the art for the purpose of extra security.

Conclusion

The art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The art disclosed general background.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
